

'The Bankable Banker': Money King Bhattacharya

Imagine a situation, wherein you confront a naxalite on your way back home while wading through poorly-lit deserted street with no one to your rescue.

Indian Bank Executive Director, M.K. Bhattacharya, then working for State Bank of India in Andhra Pradesh, had to meet a similar situation. He did not lose his sense. Asked his driver not to do anything smart, but to keep cool. He got down from his car.

Instead of threatening the banker, the naxals were seen pleading with him for a loan taken from one of the branches. He urged Mr. Bhattacharya not to initiate any action as he will repay the loan on time. On September 7, He visited Rotary Club of Madras Chenna Patna to narrate this event and many more. It was a 90-minute interesting session with Pattinathars asking questions on several issues. Hailing from Kolkata, Mr. Bhattacharya is the first one in his family to be a banker, while his father is a doctor. His son is a junior officer with Canara Bank.

Electric Vehicle is key to the future

P. Madhavan, executive vice president, sales and marketing, TVS Tyres and a member of Rotary Club of Madras East gave a very informative talk to the members of Rotary Club of Madras Chenna Patna and Rotary Club of Central Aadithya on Electric Vehicles and the future of Indian automobile firms on September 19.

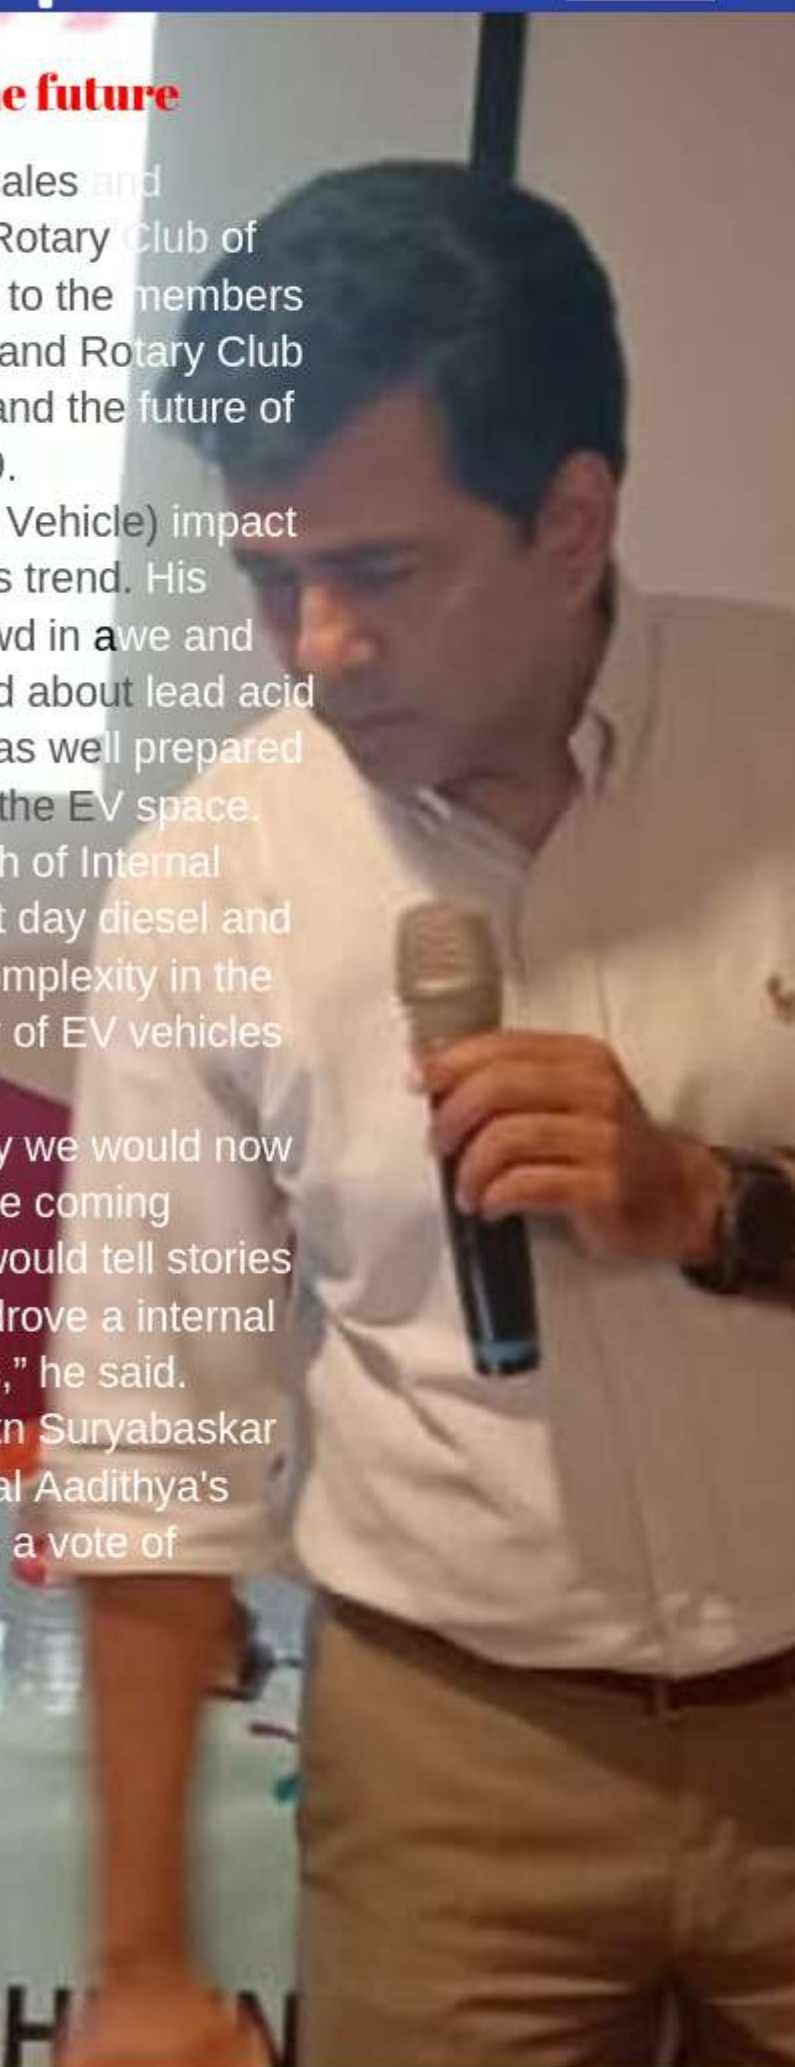

He talked in depth about the EV (Electric Vehicle) impact on the current auto market in India and its trend. His power point vault of statistics left the crowd in awe and this XLRI alumnus methodically explained about lead acid to lithium-ion transition and how China was well prepared with global investments to be a leader in the EV space. He clearly explained the impending death of Internal Combustion Engines, used in the present day diesel and petrol vehicles, in a decade due to the complexity in the number of components and the simplicity of EV vehicles with very few parts to assemble.

"With a push for more greener technology we would now witness a large scale transformation in the coming decade in the automobile world that we would tell stories to our grand children about how we self drove a internal combustion engine firing from 4 cylinders," he said.

RC Madras Chenna Patna's President Rtn Suryabaskar welcomed the gathering, while RC Central Aadithya's President Rtn N. Rajenderan ended with a vote of
