Challenges in Running a Charitable Hospital - Mr. Chandra Mohan, CEO, Childs Trust Hospital

Kanchi Kamakoti CHILD's Trust Hospital, a leading tertiary care hospital, is ready to join hands with the Rotary Club of Madras Chenna Patna for providing timely medical assistance to the poor and needy at affordable price.

"We are ready to join hands with Rotary Clubs to reach out to more people. We can lend some of our medical devices to you. We also wish to replace our medical ambulance," said S. Chandramohan, Chief Executive Officer, KKCTH in 17th January, 2019 Regular Meeting.

For the last three decades, the hospital has been providing yeoman service to the poor and needy patients.

The hospital, which was bailed out by Kanchi Kamakoti Mutt, when it was in a financial crisis, has expanded and was modernised over the years. It has a branch in Sri City, Andhra Pradesh and operates medical ambulance in and around Kancheepuram villages.

"Our ambition is to provide world class health care at affordable price. Unlike other private and corporate hospitals, we don't over charge patients or insist on them to get hospitalized, even if our beds are empty," he said.

Dr. Chandramohan pointed out that it costs Rs. 1.80 crore annually to provide free services to the poor. HT Parikh Foundation provides Rs. 60 lakh and rest is met through internal accruals. "We have very good trustees, who have been contributing liberally, whenever we are in need of funds. They also provide valuable feedback for improvement," he said.

Dr. Chandramohan also said that the hospital was recently recognised as one of the best hospitals in the country. And added that, medical practitioners from private hospitals had joined them at less salary as it gave them peace and freedom to work with peace.

RC Madras Chennapatna president Rtn G Prabhakar explained about the club's 7 free heart surgeries in a year for children up to 12 years with congenital heart disease and requested Mr. Chandramohan to refer deserving cases.
